

INSPIRATION FOR KNITWEAR AW 26/27

by E.Miroglio

| BACKGROUND |

Once upon a time, there was only one type of people – united by a common bond, living in harmony with one another. Their hearts were pure, their minds alike, and the world around them reflected their unity. But as time passed, something began to stir within them. Some longed for adventure, others yearned for change, and some felt a deep need to explore the world beyond their own. Slowly, differences began to surface. They discovered new ways of thinking, new ideas, and different talents that set them apart. These once very similar individuals began to diverge, each developing its own path. Some became artists, painting the world with colors never seen before. Others became philosophers, pondering the meaning of life and the universe. A few grew into warriors, dedicated to protecting their newfound ways of life. Yet, despite their differences, they continued to share one thing: the love of their land, and the belief that they could thrive – no matter how different they had become. And so, the world transformed... People learned that while their differences made them unique, it was their shared history and love for each other that kept them strong.

I. THE THINKER

THE THINKER likes to analyze, to reason and to go deeply into different ideas. They are intellectually orientated and appreciate knowledge. You can recognize them by their classical style of dressing. They prefer to wear minimalistic and comfortable clothes, as they will always choose practicality and functionality.
